

Community Guidelines

RPhAlly is a place to connect, share, learn, discuss, and advocate for the practice of pharmacy. This is a professional community that expects the highest of standards from all members. Our community guidelines should give you a general sense of how to act within the community but also help you know what to expect from others. We will take appropriate action with respect to users we feel are violating these guidelines. If you come across something that appears to break these guidelines, please report it to us. We want the RPhAlly community to be safe, welcoming, and inclusive.

Prohibited conduct:

- Posting content that is intended to harass, intimidate, threaten, or demean another user.
- Comments that degrade any race, religion, gender, age or sexual orientation.
- Discussions that promote or support hate groups. Discussions that glorify violence.
- Postings or messages that are defamatory, libelous, fraudulent, or otherwise violate the law.
- Using RPhAlly for any purpose that's fraudulent or unlawful.
- Posting content that invades others' privacy.
- Sending repeated and unwanted messages to a user or messages with irrelevant content.
- Posting or sharing Protected Health Information (PHI).
- "Trolling" or posting deliberately disruptive statements meant to throw discussions off-track.
- Discussions of illegal activity.
- Spam, link baiting, or files containing viruses that could damage the operation of other people's computers or mobile devices.
- Violations of intellectual property rights.
- Content determined to be inappropriate, in poor taste, or otherwise contrary to the purposes of the forum.
- Promoting competing products, services, or brands.

Thank you for helping us keep the RPhAlly community safe and supportive. If you have any questions, send an email to our support team at info@rphally.com.