BID LEARNING NETWORK
Better data. Better decisions. Better health.

The BID Learning Network invites you to a webinar on
"Data for Immunization Agenda 2030 Strategic Action Plan"

THEME

The BLN will be hosting a webinar where Kati Collective, consultants engaged by Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, GAVI and the World Health Organization, will seek your input into the framework for the Immunization Agenda 2030 (IA2030) Data Strategic Action Plan. In this webinar, the consultants will share work undertaken to date by the IA2030 Data Strategy Working Group including a summary of the methodology, process, and findings in the development of the strategic plan. During this session you will have the opportunity to provide direct feedback and help influence the overall set of actionable priorities. The consultants will also be seeking individuals that are willing to provide more detailed input as the process continues.

DATE: Thursday 6th August 2020

TIME: 4:00 PM – 5:00 PM Central African Time [CAT] Check your local time here

To join the webinar, please register in advance at the ZOOM link here.

SPEAKERS

Kirsten Gagnaire, Founder & CEO, Kati Collective

A Seattle-area native and passionate advocate for women's and girls' issues globally, Kirsten's work concentrates on culturally relevant technology for social impact with a focus on girls' and women's empowerment applications for effectively educating communities and maximizing outcomes for the underserved across the globe. She believes digital interventions can improve the health of mothers and babies in low-and middle-income settings. Kirsten has lived and traveled extensively across Africa and Southeast Asia. Kirsten is an innovator for social impact and social enterprise thought leader. She has developed and led groundbreaking business models and partnerships with global multi-sector organizations including governments, corporates, United Nations agencies, and grassroots social entrepreneurs.

Brooke Cutler, Vice President, Kati Collective

Brooke focuses her work on the intersection of global health, digital technology, and gender issues. She strongly believes in digital human rights and in an individual's right to protect their personal information as they navigate health systems and receive care. In much of her practice, she centers on women and girls, particularly regarding their access to reproductive and maternal health. Brooke previously worked at the Elizabeth Glaser Pediatric AIDS Foundation (EGPAF) and for Mobile Alliance for Maternal Action (MAMA) at the United Nations. She has consulted with the White Ribbon Alliance, the Levi Strauss Foundation, and the Health Data Collaborative. Based in Los Angeles, Brooke holds a BA from Carnegie Mellon University and an MPA from Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs.

HOST

Catherine Muyawala – BID Learning Network Coordinator, PATH

Catherine Muyawala is a knowledge management specialist with over 20 years of experience in information management including coordinating communities of practice. She has held various knowledge management - related portfolios in diverse sectors including public health. Catherine holds a BA in Library and Information Science and a Master's in Business Administration (MBA).

For any queries, please contact Catherine Muyawala, BLN Community Coordinator, at cmuyawala@path.org