

Maritime Career Opportunity for Navy Alumni From the Bridge to the Civilian Maritime Industry

The Coast Guard shared this opportunity with us. Many Navy alumni already have the sea time, leadership, and operational judgment required to captain professionally; they just need the civilian credential to unlock those opportunities.

If you're interested in:

- Running your own charter company
- Operating a water taxi or ferry
- Captaining tour or excursion vessels
- Building a post-service maritime business or second career

The U.S. Coast Guard OUPV ("Six-Pack") License is a key step.

This virtual asynchronous course helps you translate your military maritime experience into a USCG professional license, qualifying you to carry paying passengers on Inland, Great Lakes, and Near Coastal waters.
